

ABSTRACT

Novel recombinant allergens are disclosed. The allergens are non-naturally occurring mutants derived from 5 naturally-occurring allergens. The overall α -carbon backbone tertiary structure of the allergens is essentially preserved. Also disclosed are methods for preparing the recombinant allergens as well as the use of 10 the recombinant allergens for the treatment of allergic reactions.